

7 April 2014

To: All Registered General Building Contractors
All Registered Specialist Contractors
All Registered Minor Works Contractors
All Authorized Persons
All Registered Structural Engineers
All Registered Geotechnical Engineers

Dear Sirs/Madams

Anti-mosquito

With the onset of the rainy season, I write to request you to review, and strengthen where appropriate, your anti-mosquito measures for the construction sites under your control.

I cannot emphasize more on the importance of your support in combating mosquitoes in light of the potential danger associated with mosquitoes. I would suggest you to set zero prosecution and zero conviction as your anti-mosquito targets. Site staff should be vigilant on potential mosquito breeding places on construction sites to eliminate any chance that the contractor may be prosecuted by the relevant authorities. In this connection, reference should be made to the mosquito prevention and control measures uploaded in the website of Food and Environmental Hygiene Department. In the unfortunate event that a registered contractor is summoned for mosquito offences, immediate and thorough auditing on its anti-mosquito measures should be conducted with additional measures introduced as appropriate.

Your effort in making construction sites safer for all is highly appreciated.

Yours faithfully

(T C YU)
for Director of Buildings

cc Real Estate Developers' Association